Rendez-vous Canada, a non-profit educational travel and tour program for young Canadians, launches a new and exciting Website – www.sevec-rvc.ca

Ottawa, ON – SEVEC, the Society for Educational Visits and Exchanges in Canada, is very excited to be launching our new Educational Tours Website – www.sevec-rvc.ca. We now have a whole new look with great information and amazing photos to help educators and group organizers plan a group tour to Quebec City, Montréal, Ottawa or Toronto that will be both memorable and educational.

SEVEC is a recognized leader among educators in designing curriculum-based exchanges and tours for young Canadians. As a not-for-profit organization, we provide comprehensive tours that leverage the 70 plus years of experiential learning expertise and resources we're best known for through our Youth Exchange Program – and all RVC proceeds go to funding additional subsidized student exchanges!

The site provides something for everyone.

- Teachers/Group Organizers – Get Organized! Planning a tour is easier than ever with step by step checklists, sample itineraries and online forms.
- Parents – Get Informed! Whether travelling as a chaperone, or getting their child ready to travel, they can find helpful information including packing lists, insurance information and frequently asked questions.
- Students – Get Excited! Discover where an RVC adventure will take them by checking out links to popular attractions in our four Canadian destinations, a photo gallery of past trips and testimonials from other students.

More than 300,000 Canadian youth between the ages of 12-17 have participated in SEVEC youth exchanges, educational trips, and forums over the past 70 years. SEVEC's mission, as a national educational charity, is to create, promote and facilitate enriching educational opportunities for youth within Canada for the development of mutual respect and understanding through programs of exploration in language and culture.
